At Indie Fude, we believe in supporting more than just local producers. That is why 10% of corporate hamper profits go to a chosen charity each year. # THE INDIE FÜDE STORY

At Indie FÜde, we do things differently. We are an independent Irish food company that stocks only the very best artisan produce from across Ireland.

Our name reflects our values – indigenous and independent. Everything we sell is made in small batches by local makers, from farmhouse kitchens to craft distilleries.

We love introducing people to great Irish food and the stories behind it. Whether it is through our delis, online store, bespoke hampers or tasting events, we make gifting personal, memorable and proudly local.

Indie FÜde was started by Johnny and Laura, two people obsessed with great Irish food.

- 14

Johnny is Chief Taster, an expert in all things local, and never far from a fish taco or a Liverpool match.

Laura is Chief Tasterette, passionate about field-to-fork eating and supporting local producers, usually with a gin in hand and her next adventure planned.

SUPPORTING LOCAL IRISH MAKERS

We have spent years building relationships with the best independent food and drink producers across Ireland. Many have become close friends.

When you buy from IndieFude, you are not just sending a gift. You are supporting small businesses and helping the Irish food economy grow.

Every product is carefully chosen for its quality, taste and story. From farmhouse cheese to small-batch gin and handcrafted chocolate, everything comes from people who care deeply about what they make.

Choosing Indie Fude means giving a gift that does good and tastes great.
